Project Team Research: Exploring Diversified Farms
ALS 4914, Spring 2022

Gain hands-on experience exploring agricultural diversity in many forms!

In this class, students will work with the Field & Fork Program and Working Food to conduct variety trials of multiple fun (and tasty!) crops, work with chefs to test out recipes, explore diversified farming operations, and create fun outreach materials to share about the journey.

All majors are welcome! Contact Dr. Liebowitz for more info and to discuss registration.

Instructor:
Dr. Dina Liebowitz
Field & Fork Campus Food Program

Community Partner:
Melissa Desa
Community Programs Director, Working Food

Class schedule:
- Tu Period 6 (12:50-1:40)
- Th Period 6-7 (12:50-2:45)

Note: Class will be a hybrid of synchronous online discussions, and in-person meetings at the Field & Fork Farm.

To register and for more info, contact: dinalieb@ufl.edu